General Conditions of Sale and Delivery (GCSD) - Armacell GmbH

I. General

1. Our General Conditions of Sale and Delivery shall apply exclusively. Conditions of the Customer which conflict with our General Conditions shall be ineffective.
2. Orders placed by the Customer shall be binding on the Customer; a contract of sale and purchase shall come into effect at our option either by our order confirmation or by execution of the order by us.
3. Even in cases where an order is forwarded to us by another company of the Armacell Group for acceptance by us, our GCSD shall apply exclusively and we shall be the sole contractual partner for the Customer.
4. Any amendments or additions to these GCSD and/or to any other part of a contract shall only be binding if made expressly in writing or confirmed by us.
5. Should any of the provisions of these GCSD be or become invalid, the other provisions shall nevertheless remain in full force and effect.

II. Offers and Scope of Delivery

1. Our offers are without engagement. We reserve the right to modify the technical design or form of the item of delivery provided such modifications do not substantially alter the item of delivery and the modifications are not unreasonable for the Customer.
2. We assume warranty for the nature, durability or yield of the item of delivery only through express declaration or through the content of brochures, product descriptions, technical data and other printed matter and written information but not on the basis of oral undertakings.

III. Price, Payment, Security

1. Except as expressly agreed otherwise, all deliveries are effected at our prices valid on the day of delivery.
2. Except as agreed otherwise in writing, payments are due immediately or at the latest within 8 days from delivery or the goods being made available and receipt of the invoice and must be made to the place of payment designated by us, without deduction and free of costs for us. Any offer of cash discount is subject to the Customer not being in arrears with payment for any previous delivery.
3. If after conclusion of contract any facts should come to our knowledge which cast reasonable doubt on the Customer's ability to pay, we shall have the right to demand payment in advance or the provision of appropriate security. If despite the setting of a deadline by us the Customer neither makes payment in advance nor provides security or refuses absolutely to do so, we shall have the right to rescind the contract.
4. Payments may be made to our employees or persons working for us only if they are able to produce valid authority to collect.
5. Even in cases where we have allowed a period for payment, our receivables shall become due for immediate settlement should the Customer culpably fail to comply with payment terms or should any facts come to our knowledge which cast reasonable doubt on the Customer's ability to pay.
6. Where several similar liabilities of our Customer have not been fulfilled, he shall not have the right to specify which debt he is paying. Rather, we shall have the right, pursuant to Arts. 366 and 367 BGB [German Civil Code] to credit any payments received towards open liabilities of the Customer, plus costs and interest.
7. The Customer may not make offset against our claims with his own claims, except where such claims are undisputed, have been finally and absolutely established at law or are ripe for judgement. The Customer may claim a right of retention in respect of our claims only if the underlying claim is undisputed, has been finally and absolutely established at law or is ripe for judgement. This shall also apply to the right of retention pursuant to Arts. 369 - 372 HGB [German Commercial Code].

IV. Delivery, Delay

1. The scope of our delivery obligation shall be exclusively as stated in our written offer and/or our written order confirmation.
2. Delivery periods and dates which are agreed shall be deemed only approximate except where we have expressly declared a delivery period in writing to be firm. The delivery period shall begin on the day of signing of a written purchase contract or dispatch of the order confirmation, but not before provision of any documents, permits or approvals to be supplied by the Customer or before receipt of any agreed payment on account.
3. We shall have the right to make part-deliveries.
4. Call orders must be taken delivery of by the Customer within 3 months. A reasonable period of at least one month must be allowed between an order call and the desired time of delivery.
5. Even where we are already in delay, the delivery period shall be reasonably extended in the event of measures in connection with industrial disputes, in particular strikes and lockouts, or in the event of occurrence of any unforeseen obstacles which are beyond our control, provided, however, that such obstacles are demonstrably of considerable influence in respect of delivery of the ordered item and we are at no fault in respect of them.
6. In the case of any delay in delivery, the Customer shall only have the right to rescind the contract if, after the start of the delay, he allows in writing a reasonable additional time of at least 4 weeks and at the same time informs us of his intention to cancel in the event of our failure to deliver within such additional time. Contractual penalties for delay in delivery are barred.

V. Transport, Passing of Risk

1. Delivery will be effected for the account of the Customer. Unless expressly agreed otherwise in writing, the Customer shall be responsible for taking out transport or other insurance.
2. In the absence of any special agreement in respect thereof, the route and mode of transport shall be of our choice. The goods will be insured on the request of and for the account of the Customer.
3. Where cost clauses are used, the terms and definitions of the INCOTERMS in the version currently in force shall apply, except as stated otherwise in these GCSD.
4. The risk shall pass to the Customer on delivery of the goods to the freight forwarder or carrier, though at the latest on the goods leaving the warehouse or, in the case of direct delivery ex works, on leaving the works. The same shall also apply where part-deliveries are made or where we have agreed to assume the delivery costs.
5. If in exceptional cases claims for transport damage or loss should nevertheless be made against us, the Customer may raise such claims only if, before payment of the freight, he has caused a note of the damage or loss to be made on the freight documents and freight invoices and a due record of the damage or loss to be made and if he has reported such damage or loss to us or the transporting firms within an exclusion period of 5 days from arrival of the goods at the place of destination or, in the case of non-arrival, from receipt of the advice of readiness for dispatch and has kept the goods complete with packing available for inspection by us.
6. Should dispatch be delayed due to circumstances for which the Customer is responsible, the risk shall pass to the Customer from the day of readiness for dispatch; we shall, however, have a duty, on the request of the Customer and at the Customer's expense, to take out such insurance as the Customer may request.
7. Standard packing is free of charge. Any special packing required by instructions of the Customer will be charged to the Customer.

VI. Reservation of Title

1. We reserve title to the item of delivery until receipt in full amount of all payments arising from the business relationship with the Customer. Where payment is made by cheque, the goods shall remain our property for as long as we ourselves have liability under the cheque. Our reservation of title shall also extend to a recognised balance on account in cases where we book our receivables against the Customer on current account (current account reservation).
2. The Customer shall have the right to resell the item of delivery in the ordinary course of his business.
3. Any further processing of the item of delivery shall be deemed done on our behalf. We shall have title to the new item so created, which the Customer shall administer on our behalf.
4. Where the item of delivery is inseparably mixed or combined with other goods, we shall have co-ownership to the new item so created in the same proportion as the value of our item of delivery to the value of the other goods mixed or combined with it at the time of mixing or combination.
5. Where we acquire new title in the cases as set forth under Figures 3 and 4, we already assign the same to the Customer on condition of payment in full of the receivables referred to under Figure 1.
6. The Customer already hereby assigns to us all his receivables arising from resale of the item of delivery or the goods made from it by further processing. Of the receivables arising from the resale of goods to which we have acquired co-ownership through mixing or combination, the Customer already hereby assigns to us a first-ranking part-amount which corresponds to our co-ownership share to the goods resold. Where the Customer sells goods to which we have ownership or co-ownership together with other goods which are not our property for a total price, the Customer already hereby assigns to us a first-ranking part-amount of the total receivables which corresponds to our share.
7. Subject to our right of revocation at any time, we hereby authorise the Customer to collect the assigned receivables arising from resale. He shall, on our request, name the parties owing the assigned receivables, inform them of assignment of the receivables or surrender the notice of assignment to us. As long as the Customer fulfils his payment obligations, we shall not disclose the assignment. Should the value of the securities held by us in the Customer's favour exceed our receivables by an amount of more than 30%, we shall, on the request of the Customer, have a duty to release securities of his choice in such amount.
8. Should the Customer not intend to rightfully resell an item of delivery immediately or should we demand that it be insured, the Customer shall have a duty, on our request, to insure the goods which are our property against the usual risks at his own expense and to assign the insurance claims to us. We shall also have the right to pay the insurance premium for the Customer's account.
9. Should we rescind the contract on grounds of breach of contract by the Customer, the Customer shall have a duty to bear, among other things, the costs for our revocation of the item of delivery and sale of the item of delivery as well as the administrative expenses incurred in connection therewith. Such costs shall be deemed to amount to 10% of the sale proceeds incl. VAT, without any need for us to provide evidence thereof. They shall be higher or lower if we can prove higher costs or the Customer lower costs. The proceeds will be credited to the Customer after deduction of the costs and other claims connected with the contract.

10. The Customer shall inform us without delay in writing of any attachment or other such interference by third parties so as to enable us to bring legal action pursuant to Art. 771 ZPO [German Code of Civil Procedure]. Should the third party not be able to refund our court and out-of-court costs pursuant to Art. 771 ZPO, the Customer shall have liability for the loss so arising.

11. In the case of existence or conclusion of a credit agreement involving lien of his business inventory, the Customer undertakes to secure our rights of title to items of delivery which have not yet been paid for in full towards the bank concerned.

12. In the case of legal action in connection with our reservation of title, we shall have the right, at our option, to bring such action against a foreign Customer before a court in his own country and under the law of his own country. In this case, such rights of reservation of title shall be deemed whose economic effects most nearly correspond to those agreed herein.

VII. Cancellation by the Customer

Should the Customer cancel without good cause an order which has already been placed, we shall have the right, without prejudice to any other and additional rights, to demand 15% of the total order value as compensation. The Customer shall have the right to prove that we have suffered no loss or only a loss which is considerably less than the aforesaid lump-sum amount.

VIII. Warranty/Liability

Except where special warranty arrangements exist or are agreed in writing in individual cases or for individual divisions of our company which have priority over the conditions set forth below, the following conditions shall apply:

1. We assume warranty for the item of delivery in accordance with the statutory provisions, except as specified below.
2. All warranty is excluded in the case of sale of used, moveable items of delivery.
3. The Customer has a duty to examine all deliveries carefully and completely immediately after receipt. Any defects to the goods or shortages of goods which are found during the inspection must be notified to us in writing within 7 days from receipt of the goods. Should a defect which was not detectable during the initial examination manifest itself at a later date, the Customer must inform us thereof without delay. When notifying a defect, the Customer must describe the alleged defect in detail and in particular inform us in what way and under what circumstances the defect occurred.
4. We shall have a duty to provide warranty only if a defect has occurred despite the goods having been installed/fitted and treated/serviced in accordance with the instructions of Armacell and having been subjected only to normal wear and tear and the defect is not due to natural wear of the goods or individual parts thereof. Customary deviations of the delivered goods in respect of colour, dimensions and/or other quality and performance characteristics shall not create any rights against us.
5. Where the Customer requests remedy and remedy is not carried out in situ, the Customer shall have a duty to return the goods to us in the original packing or in packing which is equally secure. The Customer shall bear the risk of transport in both directions.
6. Claims of the Customer for compensation on any grounds, especially for breach of duty under the contractual relationship or for tort, are barred. This shall not apply in cases where we have statutory liability, in particular
 - in cases of deliberate intent or gross negligence
 - in cases of injury to life, body or health
 - on grounds of assumption of warranty for the nature of the item of delivery
 - under product liability law
 - in other cases of breach of material contractual duties; in this case, the claim for compensation shall be limited to the damage which may typically occur in cases of such kind.

The foregoing provisions shall not imply any reversal in the onus of proof to the detriment of the buyer.

IX. Applicable Law, Place of Performance, Legal Venue

1. Except as may be agreed otherwise, German law shall apply, even in cases where the Customer has his place of business in another country. Application of the UN Convention on Contracts for the International Sale of Goods is barred.
2. The place of performance for all payments shall be Münster (Westphalia). The place of performance for deliveries shall be the place of dispatch.
3. The exclusive legal venue for all disputes shall be Münster. We reserve the right to bring legal action against the Customer also at the court having jurisdiction for his place of business.

X. Assignment

Subject to the provisions of Art. 354a HGB, receivables may only be assigned to third parties with our consent.
